OWNER'S WARNING AFTER DOG IS MAULED BY PACK

Beloved pet bitten on legs, neck and ears by three 'bull terriers'

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A PET owner whose German Shepherd dog was attacked by three dogs while they were off their leads has warned others to be on their guard.

Donna Miller, 28, said three-year-old Noki was being walked by a neighbour's daughter when they were set on by three bull terrier type dogs.

After the mauling, the owner of the dogs ran away leaving Noki with wounds and bite marks.

Mum-of-two Donna, who lives in The Briars, Harlow, and works as a carer, said: "My neighbour's daughter was walking my dog with her friend when I heard screaming. She was screaming my dog's name.

Leads

"I went running down and I saw my dog with the three other dogs around it. I noticed that they were off their leads. My partner came running, too, and he was able to get two of them off. The owner then appeared and grabbed the other one.

"After that the three dogs went running off with the owner. The whole thing lasted around five or six minutes in total."

Donna said the two girls who were walking Noki had only got to the end of her road when the three dogs came charging towards them.

"They said they saw the dogs running towards them and they just panicked," she said. "The dogs just got Noki into a corner."

Donna took Noki to a vet who confirmed he had suffered puncture wounds on one of his legs and neck while his ear had marks of scabbing. His wounds are now healing but Donna believes it will take a while to recover from the mental scars left by the attack and group at their hub in Harlow Central Library.

Every week volunteers record themselves reading news items from the Star on memory sticks which are then sent to 65 visually-impaired residents of the town.

Harlow Talking Newspaper chairman Anne Oval said it will use the money to buy more memory sticks and equipment to play the recordings.

"The donation is amazing, and we are very grateful," she said.

"This money will go towards our service. There are not many charities specific to Harlow and it is an important service."

Members of the Freemasons lodge meets five times a year and holds various events to raise funds for charities.

Pensioner's anger over changes to bus service

New shelters are now located on the opposite side of the road

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A FURIOUS pensioner has described a decision to alter the route of a bus service in Harlow so that it no longer stops at recently constructed shelters as "a dreadful waste of money".

Constance Usher said the new Arriva number 6 service now passes through Fold Croft on the opposite side of the road to the shelter, leaving it underused.

As a result the 84-year-old says she has had to wait in the rain for a bus to arrive at her nearest stop in Hobtote Road and this has deterred her from travelling into the town centre.

"They have changed the route to run on the opposite side of the road from the raised pavements and new bus shelters," he said. "What a dreadful waste of money.

"I now have to cross the main road [to get to the bus stop] which is very busy.

"I have contacted Arriva but I cannot find the people responsible for this stupidity. They have probably never visited the area and have no idea of the upset they have caused.

"This bus service is very important to people living in Fold Croft."

The new bus stops, which were installed by Essex County Council, were used by the former Arriva number 5 route from Little Parndon to the town centre. In April the bus company scrapped the number 5 and the route was picked up by the number 6 service which operates a circular route to the town centre in the morning and afternoon.

The shelters are still served by the TrustyBus service which takes over from Arriva's number 6 in the late afternoon and early evening, running a similar route to the former number 5 service.

Mrs Usher said: "The Arriva service runs until 3.48pm and then TrustyBus operate the service until 6.55pm, so if I want to go anywhere in the evening I would have to get a taxi.

"My daughter was saying this was disgusting and I know a lot of people who are complaining.

"It has made a great deal of difference. I now have to wait under trees close to the woods."

She added: "I spoke to Arriva and they said it is not financially viable to run the number 5 any more."

An Arriva spokesman confirmed the decision to change the route was financial and added they were not responsible for the bus shelters

Essex County Council said there is no obligation for Arriva to use the bus stop.

Shop manager Emma takes a leap of faith to raise money for cancer support charity

A CANCER survivor has raised more than £800 for charity after being sponsored to jump out of a plane.

Emma Burgess, 36, who is the store manager for Linens Direct in the Harvey Centre, Harlow, took the her leap of faith to support Breast Cancer Care, the charity which helped her to fight the disease.

"The skydive was excellent and I would recommend it to anyone," she said.

"I cannot even imagine how much it cost to make sure I am here today. So many people have lost their lives to this awful disease and I could never be thankful enough to be cancer-free.

"If I can beat cancer, I can jump out of a plane."

Emma set herself a fundraising target of £400 which she has smashed. The total now stands at more than £800, including a £100 donation from the Harvey Centre.

Centre manager Bryan Young said: "We feel honoured to be able to sponsor Emma for her brave fundraising activity.

"After facing the challenge of cancer treatment with such courage and determination, we are sure the skydive was a rather more exhilarating, yet equally frightening, challenge."

Anyone wanting to make a donation should visit Emma's fundraising page at www.justgiving.com/fundraising/Emma-Burgess8.

Parents' desperate bid to pay for a vital operation

Family needs £30k for life-changing procedure for daughter

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE family of a three-year-old girl with cerebral palsy are raising money to pay for a lifeline operation no longer covered by the NHS.

Rick and Sally Moxom hoped trial surgery would help their daughter, Jasmine, walk and play with twin sister Summer, but the family face a £30,000 bill after health chiefs scrapped the free service.

Jasmine is unable to walk, has visual problems and spasms that cause her a large amount of pain. Her condition leaves her struggling to keep up with her sister.

Sally, 31, who grew up in Harlow and moved to Norfolk around the time the girls were born, said: "When we heard they would no longer fund the operation I was gutted."

"Jasmine is watching her twin sister and friends running around but she is not able to play with her. She can only crawl and she is not able to keep up with them."

"I think the NHS is cutting the operations to save money but they told us they need to look at the long-term effects of the operation."

During several stays at various hospitals Jasmine had blood transfusions. Soon after she was born she was diagnosed with meningitis and her parents were told after three weeks that she had a severe form of cerebral palsy, and as a result she may not be able to eat, move or speak.

However, the brave youngster surpassed everyone's expectations and attends nursery two days a week with a view to starting primary school in September.

She now needs a selective dorsal rhizotomy operation which severs nerves in the spine to allow her to move more easily.

TIME OUT: Three-year-old Jasmine is hoping to start school in September

After being told Jasmine was an ideal candidate for the trial procedure, the family paid out £3,000 in physiotherapy to get her body conditioned for the process. But their hopes were shattered when they were told the funding for the operation had been pulled in December last year.

"The most important thing about the operation is that it would give her a pain free life," said Sally. "We started fundraising at the start of the year and so far we have got £15,000, with one private donor adding another £10,000."

"It shows there are a lot more nice people in the world than get credit; it is incredible. We have also been thinking of setting up a trust fund to help other parents going through the same situation as us."

A fun day at the Potters Arms pub in Church Langley Way, Harlow, on Saturday, August 27, will be held to raise funds for the operation. Final arrangements are now being made, but Sally said there will be stalls, games and live music with an Xbox console and a TV as prizes in an auction.

There will also be a formal dinner and dance at Blake's Golf Club in North Weald on Saturday, August 20. ■ To donate money to the appeal visit <https://crowdfunding.justgiving.com/sally-morton>. ## Owner's warning after her pet is mauled by three other dogs he has not been taken out for a walk since the incident last week.

"He was very scared, shaken by the incident," she said.

"He has only just got back to being his normal self and it has been a week."

"He was really sad, moping about. His wounds are healing really well. He was lucky to get away with what he did get away with."

"It will just be mental scarring; I do not know how he will be with other dogs."

The attack was reported to police but it is understood they are not investigating it.

"I want those dogs to be taken away or at least be kept on leads at all times," added Donna.

"I am worried for the safety of other dogs in the area.

"There are other kids taking dogs for walks in the area and I don't want them getting hurt."

"I want to get it out there so people are aware that they should be careful with their dogs."

Girls support man's charity bid to cross Sahara Desert

TWO youngsters have raised £147 to support a Harlow man who is planning to walk across the Sahara Desert.

Poppy Tant and Talloulah Brenton, both 10, and Year 5 pupils at Lattin Green Primary Academy in Riddings Lane, held two cake sales to support James Doye, who will be taking on the 100km trek for Children with Cancer in November.

Mr Doye, 35, has now reached £1,814 towards his target of raising £3,000 for the charity, which supports the families of cancer sufferers.

The father-of-three raised a further £100 by holding a penalty shootout competition at Lattin Green, which his children attend. The school is also planning to hold a non-uniform day for the cause.

"The school invited me to hold an assembly, which went really well and the children were so inspired," said Mr Doye.

Mr Doye, managing director of estate agency Property Street, will set off from Morocco on November 4. He then plans to start his walk on November 12, averaging 17-20km per day and finishing on November 19.

On Saturday he will be outside Asda at The Water Gardens from 10am to 4pm to collect donations.

Let's be realistic about our future

SIR, Several of your correspondents welcomed the EU referendum result (Letters, June 30).

Apart from the repudiation of the lie that money no longer paid to Europe would go to the NHS, do they welcome the fall in the value of the £, the serious economic downturn when the adverse balance of trade is at a new high, the proposals to move jobs out of Britain, the deterrent to investment in this country and the likelihood that Scotland will leave the UK?

Do they recognise that the possibility of remaining in the EU single market and avoiding tariffs on trade with Europe is dependent on accepting the free movement of labour and on continuing payments to the EU, as in the case of Norway?

At a time when we are remembering the gigantic cost in lives and suffering in war, highlighted by the centenary of the Battle of the Somme, do they think it sensible to distance ourselves from our neighbours with whom or against whom we previously fought for centuries past?

Do they welcome the loss of EU grants to Wales and Cornwall, agriculture and science etc, and take on board that their replacement by our government will add to public expenditure? Do they not recognise the stimulus given to racist behaviour?

We all now have to face up to the present situation but let us, at least, be realistic about the resulting problems.

Stan Newsen
Park Hill, Harlow

Facing up to going it alone

SIR, So the die is cast and turmoil results. Already the promises are being downgraded.

Net immigration is not guaranteed to reduce and rather than £350m overnight, Mr Gove promises £100m a week for the NHS by 2020.

I suspect that many of those who voted Leave will live to regret it if they have not already done so, although it will give me no pleasure to be proved right.

There are many valid criticisms of the European Union, though not necessarily the most commonly believed ones. However, the idea that Britain going it alone in today's globalised economy can defy the multinational corporations that R.G. Beale rightly decries (Letters, June 30) is pie in the sky. Does he believe that a Tory government will be any less in thrall to US or Chinese big business?

He also refers to Britain as a

READER'S PHOTO

■ Star reader Dave Bruford took this picture of a robin when it visited his garden in The Readings, Harlow, last month. If you have a photograph you have taken in or around Harlow which you would like to be featured in the Star, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a brief description of where and when it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Please remember to include your name and address.

democratic country. Well, up to a point – an unelected House of Lords with bishops and 92 hereditary peers, many of whose ancestors gained their title by very dubious means, and a government elected to a majority with 37 per cent of the vote but only 24 per cent of the electorate.

And then there is the Royal Prerogative which reserves certain decisions solely to the sovereign, in practice delegated to the Prime Minister, most notably declaration of war. Although the House of Commons has very recently been consulted on some conflicts, this is not a constitutional right but a concession by the sovereign/Prime Minister.

By contrast, and again contrary to common belief, EU laws are not made by the unelected commission. The commission, whose members are appointed by the governments of the member states, proposes laws which have to be approved by both the Council of Ministers – the elected representatives of the member states – and by the Parliament.

The latter is the only major international body that is directly elected. This process could be more open and the Parliament would have more power if it was elected by a larger turnout, but it is not intrinsically undemocratic.

It is the left in the Parliament that has prevented the adoption so far of the Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership, and a UK in the EU, supporting that opposition would have more influence than it could ever have outside.

The fundamental argument for the EU, with all its faults, is the need in the light of the unprecedented threats faced by the human race today for co-operation at all levels, from the individual to the global. A stark example of this is fishing, which Mr Beale mentions. Without international control and co-operation, there will be no fish in 20-30 years. Many species are already under threat, while others are reviving due to international agreements to create protected zones.

Finally, correspondent Paul Wadley has some strange ideas. He thinks that because some councillors were among the 48 per cent nationally who voted Remain as opposed to the 68 per cent in Harlow who differed, they have suddenly become incapable of making decisions on all the domestic problems that come within the purview of Harlow Council.

Second EU vote in unavoidable

SIR, It isn't over yet. I have no doubt that in two years' time, after the negotiations with the EU are complete, there will be another referendum.

This is unavoidable as the terms which the UK will get from the talks will be radically different from the issues that the recent campaign was fought on.

A second referendum, when it comes, will have the added bonus for the Tories of nullifying the UKIP threat once and for all.

When the question is stay in the EU or leave under these new watered down conditions, Farage and company will have nowhere to go.

J. Black via email

Politicians set a bad example

SIR, After the events at Westminster following the referendum, I now feel totally disillusioned and so far removed from politics in this country.

Senior politicians are the ones that are supposed to be acting on our behalf but just look at all the goings-on. Five-year-olds can act better.

I won't be bothering to vote again because they do what they like, they say what they like, ferociously attack each other, ruin political careers and leave the country bitterly divided and, quite frankly, in a mess.

We aren't even allowed a say in who becomes our next Prime Minister.

Debbie Ramdass

Perfect place for art gallery

SIR, If and when Harlow Civic Centre becomes a hotel it will obviously mean that the Gibberd Gallery would have to find a new home.

Just at this moment a unique opportunity occurs that would guarantee the gallery's future and see the Harvey centre becoming a major cultural attraction.

The first floor of the BHS store has the superb wood sculpture at the top of the escalator. If this area became the new gallery this sculpture would provide a wonderful foyer entrance to the Gibberd watercolour collection and other exhibitions.

The gallery would join the new cinema and restaurants and certainly increase footfall to the centre as new interest groups, coach parties and tourists visited and used these new attractions.

For the gallery it could mean seven-day opening.

Are all the parties involved brave enough to take this idea forward? I believe it would enhance the town, the town centre and be the cultural hub of our Sculpture Town.

Town in need of a good clean-up

SIR, Following on from L. Cole's letter printed in last week's Star ("Town is turning into a wasteland"), I am writing to agree. The whole town is looking very rundown indeed.

The mini roundabout by the bus and fire station is in a terrible state and it has been like this for a very long time. The surrounding brickwork has broken away and weeds are growing rampantly.

As for the hedges and verges, we pedestrians are now forced into the road not only by illegally parked vehicles but also by overgrown hedges and shrubbery, be it council owned or privately owned.

I used to walk my dogs around Oakwood on a daily basis but now it is overgrown with brambles and fallen trees. Even walking in the road is now a dangerous place to go as we have to avoid the potholes.

I do realise the council has suffered cutbacks over the years but surely pedestrian safety should come first. Maybe they could take on volunteers or part-time workers to help trim and clean up areas that are turning into a disgrace.

I used to pride myself on being a resident of Harlow when I first moved here back in the early 1980s but now I am ashamed to live here.

Name and address supplied

No choice over M11 junction

SIR, I attended some of the M11 junction 7a consultations. I am sorry to say they were a farce. Since when did consultation consist of being told that, as residents, you have three choices but only Essex County Council's preferred choice will be built?

It's clear to me the preferred plan meets the needs of ECC and Harlow Council's Local Plan but not the needs of the local residents.

ECC's highways department states that Harlow does not need a bypass as traffic leaving the M11 at junction 7 is local traffic accessing Harlow town centre. As residents we have got to put up with all disruption that junction 7a will bring – road widening works on Gilden Way and Old Harlow and the A414 from Gates to the town station roundabout – just to suit rush-hour traffic.

These are the same people who spent almost two years building a few hundred yards of dual carriageway and the dreaded hamburger roundabout that's not really a roundabout. While it may keep through traffic moving and stop traffic queuing on the M11, it does not help locals at all.

They went on to turn the Clock Tower roundabout into a disaster because they decided all traffic leaving the M11 is going to the town centre and have diverted it off the A414 towards the town centre and very cleverly put Keep Clear road markings where they are of no use to anyone.

I would hope that now the EU Referendum has shown the establishment and politicians are totally out of touch with the people we might be listened to but I am not holding my breath.

AWARD: Jessica Valentine-Howard with the trophy she received for her Synerjes vlog

Teen on a roll with YouTube vlog

Jessica is runner-up in video challenge

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A TEENAGER'S positive outlook on life helped her YouTube diary become shortlisted for a top award.

In her Synerjes vlog (video blog), 18-year-old Jessica Valentine-Howard, of The Stow, Harlow, talks about living with chronic fatigue syndrome and her love for travel.

Last week the St Mark's West Essex Catholic School sixth former finished runner-up in the Vlogstar Challenge organised by the Media Trust.

"I started off doing travel videos about a year ago but I found out about this condition and we realised that this is something that was quite unique about me," said Jessica. "I started incorporating it into my vlog."

Jessica now broadcasts three vlogs a week through YouTube and also writes a weekly blog. She reviews films, posts footage of her tours around cities and talks about living with CFS – a condition causing prolonged tiredness.

"It is really picking up," said Jess. "I have now got nearly 60 subscribers on YouTube and more than 100 people read the blog. I am trying to develop and share as much positivity as we can and showing people we can do things.

"I have been to New York twice, to Malta and I am going to Paris in a week."

Family and friends were in the audience as Jessica collected a trophy at London's Princess Anne Theatre, home of the BAFTA Awards. However, her real prize was the exposure she received and the opportunity to mingle with industry experts.

After sitting one more A-level exam, Jessica is looking forward to a summer of filming before she hopes to begin studying film at Hertfordshire University.

BATTLE OF THE SOMME: Services held in Harlow town centre and at North Weald Airfield

Their memory will never fade

Ken Morley

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ON a wet and gloomy morning in Harlow town centre more than 100 people gathered on Friday to remember the bravery and sacrifice of the servicemen who fought in the Battle of the Somme 100 years ago.

Council leaders, town historians and faith leaders took part in a service to mark the centenary of the First World War campaign, which started on July 1, 1916 and raged for 141 days.

By the time it ended more than one million soldiers had been killed or injured. Thirteen men from the Harlow area died, two of them on the first day.

The service was held in Market Square where, sheltering from the rain under umbrellas, the crowd listened as local dignitaries, town historians and faith leaders paid tribute to the fallen.

Among those present were Harlow Council chairwoman Edna Stevens, MP Robert Halfon, town rabbi Irit Shillor and town chaplain Robert Findlay.

Councillor Jean Clark started the proceedings at 7am. "Mine was the shortest of the speeches," she said. "I had two minutes at the beginning where I said we were there to remember those who lost their lives in battle.

"I said that it is very important we remember such horrors so that we can learn the lessons and declare never again."

Details of the 13 casualties from Harlow were then read out by Nich Taylor and John

Bowden while Colonel Stephen Foakes, regimental president of the Essex Yeomanry, spoke about Essex Regiment's preparations and actions in the battle.

At 7.28 a two-minute silence was held, timed to end at exactly the moment 100 years before when whistles were blown and British troops left the trenches to go over the top at the start of the battle.

The service was brought to an end with some closing words from Cllr Clark.

Afterwards, Mr Halfon said: "It was a huge honour to attend the Battle of Somme commemoration. It was an incredibly moving event, especially with the presence of the Essex Yeomanry and the prayers given by the town chaplain and town rabbi.

"It is wonderful to be able to commemorate this tragic battle and Harlow's heritage in this way and to remember the people of Harlow who gave their lives."

ON GUARD: Tending the brazier during the all-night vigil at North Weald Airfield

STAFF from the operations team at North Weald Airfield tended the flames of a brazier which burned through the night.

Dressed in the uniform worn by British Army soldiers in 1916, they kept watch over the flames before taking their places for Friday morning's service of commemoration led by Father James Rodley from St Andrew's Church.

The brazier beside the reconstruction of a First World War trench was lit at dusk on Thursday evening by David Stallan, vice-chairman of Epping Forest Council.

Council chairman Jeane Lea thanked everyone who attended Friday's service despite the weather.

"The Battle of the Somme has entered British folklore," she said.

"It has gone down as the bloodiest episode in the history of the British Army.

"Hardly a village, hamlet or community was left unaffected and the names of the fallen are to be found on war memorials the length and breadth of the country.

She added: "By keeping the memory of the Somme alive, perhaps we can play our part in ensuring nothing like it ever happens again."

CHARITY: Ready, steady, glow – town is awash with colour as hundreds take Walkers light up the night to raise £60k for hospice

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE streets of Harlow were glowing on Saturday as hundreds of people dressed in luminous pink, yellow and orange outfits took part in St Clare Hospice's Midnight Walk.

More than 600 walkers of all ages set off from The Water Gardens following a DJ set from Heart radio breakfast show presenter Su Harrison and warm-up dance routines led by staff from PureGym and Clubercise.

The walk was started by Michael Handley, who then took part in memory of his father, Mark, and who has raised more than £4,000 on his JustGiving page.

Those taking part had the choice of a 5km or 10km around town.

The first group to finish the 5km walk were Harlow resident Sarah Swan and her family, who completed the course in just under an hour.

Friend

Sarah, 50, walked in memory of her best friend and Harlow Council colleague Andrea McGirr, who passed away at the hospice earlier this year at the age of 44.

"Andrea became ill quite suddenly and was diagnosed with bowel cancer," said Sarah. "I was with her all the way through her treatment and when she was referred to St Clare's I went to visit her there."

"I had never been to a hospice before and so I had no idea what to expect, but it was just a fantastic place. I couldn't fault the staff, they were amazing."

As she crossed the finishing line she said: "This is my birthday weekend but I just couldn't imagine celebrating it without Andrea so my family and I decided to take part in the Midnight Walk in her memory. My sons, Joe and Zack, let me cross the finish line first so I could be the winner. It has been a great event – we are so pleased to have been part of it."

EMOTIONAL: Sue Barclay, Sophie Barclay-Betts and Emma Barclay with Heart radio presenter Su Harrison. Right, two of the walkers with Barney, mascot of event sponsors Barnes and Partners

Crossing the line first for the 10km walkers were the trio of Veronica Johansson, Kathy Forrest and Alan Hope, who completed the distance using Nordic walking poles as part of their training for the Three Peaks Challenge which they will be undertaking in August.

Veronica was walking in memory of her friend Denise Salmon, who recently passed away, and her mother who was cared for by St Clare's 'At Home' service.

Groups from across the hospice's catchment area of West Essex and East Herts took part in teams, including one from the Elsenham Women's Institute who called themselves The Gilbey Girls. One member of the team, Lindsey Peters, was the poster girl for this year's Midnight Walk.

The walk was sponsored by law firm Barnes and Partners, who entered a team of sixteen walkers including founding partner Nigel Barnes, and supported by the Star.

Proud

Walk organiser Jade Clark said: "Once again our Midnight Walkers did the hospice proud, turning up in droves to support our biggest event and helping to raise thousands of pounds of vital funding so we can continue providing our incredible care to local families."

"We would like to say a huge thank you to each and every person who took part, as well as our army of volunteers and marshals who helped ensure the night was a success, and the many local businesses who supported us."

"It really was a fantastic night and one I will never forget. It was so moving to hold a minute's silence in memory of those loved ones we have lost and then to watch the sea of yellow St Clare shirts winding its way up the main street."

She added: "I am so grateful to Sue Barclay, and her daughters, Emma and Sophie, who came up on to the stage to talk about the care their husband and dad Steve received at St Clare."

"Our heartfelt thanks also goes to Michael Handley, who started the race off for us."

It is hoped that once all sponsorship money has been collected the walk will have raised £60,000 – enough to fund the inpatient unit for two weeks.

The atmosphere was buzzing as the clock ticked down to start

William Mata

Star reporter & Midnight Walk marshal

I HAD little idea what to expect as I set off to marshal at St Clare Hospice's Midnight Walk for the first time.

Arriving at The Water Gardens to The Jackson 5 blasting through a loud speaker and several hundred people – men and women – wearing fluorescent outfits, yellow T-shirts and tutus, I was beginning to wonder what I had let myself in for.

But after wading through a sea of yellow I was put at ease after finding the team I would be part of for the next four hours. It was only 9.30pm and a good 90 minutes before the walk was due to begin, but the atmosphere was already buzzing as the clock ticked down.

After a quick coffee and a piece of the fruit loaf I had packed to get me through the evening, my team leader summoned the troops and dropped us off at our designated marshalling points.

I was to stand at the 7km point outside the Aldi supermarket in First Avenue, a position where any stragglers might need particular encouragement.

Company

It was a while before the first of the walkers reached my post but nearby marshals provided great company and the time flew by.

Around midnight the first eager fundraisers came past at a pace that was closer to a run. A small group were using Nordic walking poles to propel them forward – these people meant business.

A little further back the majority of the walkers were taking things a bit easier and in a mood to enjoy the occasion. All were friendly and appreciative of the meagre encouragement I could provide.

At one point the night shift workers inside Aldi gathered by the window to see what the commotion was all about.

A 10km walk was not a distance too challenging for the fundraisers but the real commitment came in their willingness to stay up late.

Credit should go to St Clare for their fantastic organisation. The event ran smoothly, the walkers were made to feel welcome and the marshals feel appreciated.

Marshalling was a joy and it was a privilege to be part of such a fun event for a very deserving cause.

Top guns raise £24k for PAH cancer charity

FORMER England rugby players Paul Sackey and Andy Goode have helped to raise more than £24,000 for the breast cancer trials unit at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital.

The pair took part in a charity clay pigeon shoot hosted by global logistics specialist Peters & May Group at Pennsport Shooting School in West Berkshire.

Eighteen teams competed in the morning shoot which was followed by a gourmet barbecue lunch and charity auction.

Lots included signed editions by digital artist Dean Fox, a week's catamaran cruise in the British Virgin Islands, and a Royal Yacht Association sailing day for two.

Disease

David Holley, chief executive of Peters & May Group, said: "Having lost my mother to this horrific disease, it means a huge amount to have been able to support breast cancer clinical trials in this way."

David Lewis, chairman of the breast cancer charity advisory board, added: "Over the past 13 years we've significantly improved outcomes for patients as a result of the hard work of the charity, which is at the leading edge of treatment and aftercare for breast cancer patients."

The PAH breast unit charity aims to raise awareness of the importance of clinical trials in the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of the disease giving women the chance to take part in ground-breaking research using cutting-edge technologies.

Helping hands need to care for hospice gardens

PEOPLE handy with a trowel and with a few hours to spare are being sought to join the team of gardeners who keep the grounds of St Clare Hospice as a haven of peace and tranquillity.

The current team needs more help maintaining the various green spaces, tidying and weeding flowerbeds, cutting grass, pruning and composting.

Facilities manager Paul Miller said: "The gardens are one of the highlights of the hospice for patients and their families."

"We are always receiving positive comments about the tranquil atmosphere and there are lots of secluded spots to enjoy the plants and flowers, giving families a chance for peace at one of life's hardest moments.

"We often pick flowers from the gardens to put into patients' bedrooms which brings a lot of enjoyment to them and their loved ones."

He added: "The beauty of the gardens is all thanks to the committed team of volunteer gardeners who come every week – rain or shine – to tend to the grounds, but now we have a new building with landscaped gardens surrounding it as well as a huge array of flowerbeds in our newly renovated car park area we need even more help."

One member of the team, Bob Pook, has been a volunteer gardener for five years after retiring. "I wanted to do something to keep busy and working outside appealed to me," he said.

"I have made some great friends amongst the other gardeners and we often go out to the pub to socialise. Volunteering has had such a positive impact on my life as well as making a meaningful difference to the lives of those who come to St Clare."

Volunteers are needed to help on weekdays and hours are flexible. For more information visit stclarehospice.org.uk/volunteervacancies/volunteer-gardener/.

Three fined for failing to pay fixed litter penalties

Council cracks down on 'unacceptable and irresponsible behaviour'

Court Reporter

star@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

THREE people were left counting the cost of littering after being taken to court by Harlow Council for failing to pay fixed penalty notices.

Dave Franks, of Collins Meadow, was issued with a notice after he was seen to throw a cigarette on the floor and walk away.

He failed to pay the penalty and was found guilty in his absence when the case was heard at Chelmsford Magistrates Court

DUMPED: Bishopsfield, Harlow

He was fined £250 and ordered to pay court costs of £340 and a £25 victim surcharge.

Danny Peak, of Elwood, was served with an FPN notice after council officers saw him dump rubbish into the street from his car. He was fined £250 fine with £340 court costs and a £25 victim surcharge.

The case against George Pendred, of Bishopsfield, centred on a large amount of household waste being dumped in a pathway at Bishopsfield. Council officers found evidence linking the rubbish to Pendred and he was served with an FPN.

Once again the case was proved in his absence and he was fined £400 and ordered to pay court costs of £390 and a £40 victim surcharge.

Councillor Emma Toal, portfolio holder for youth and community, described littering as unacceptable and irresponsible behaviour.

"The council is upholding its duty as community leaders to maintain a clean environment for those who live and visit Harlow," she said.

"Litter and dumped rubbish in the streets is a constant area of complaint from residents and in response our officers are watching and will take action against those who mess up our town."

"Littering and dropping cigarette butts is damaging to the environment and makes the town look messy. It also contributes to annual cost of nearly £2m the council spends in cleaning up litter and rubbish found on the town's streets and housing estates."

A council spokesman said it will always investigate reports and take action against anyone caught littering or dumping rubbish as long as there is conclusive evidence which enables officers to issue an FPN.

Encouraging adult pupils back to the classroom

ACL Essex is encouraging adult learners across the county to step back in the classroom and join fellow students in studying for GCSEs in English, mathematics and science.

GCSEs in these subjects are ones that are most likely to be sought out on potential employees' CV.

Learners wishing to enrol in the GCSE class must first take an initial assessment in order to see if the course is suitable. Assessment sessions are taking place across the county.

Free

The English and mathematics course could be free to those learners who do not already have a grade A*-C in these subjects.

Councillor Ray Gooding, cabinet member for education and lifelong learning, said: "Gaining a GCSE in English, maths or science could be just what you need to kick start or revitalise your career and help build the economy."

"Let 2016 be the year you learn something new with ACL."

For more information or to book call 0345 603 7635 or keep a look out for the ACL course guide being delivered to all homes in Essex.

Courses will start in September.

Councillor will also tackle the stigma of mental health

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

A COUNCILLOR is on a mission to get fit while raising money for a charity which supports young people.

Harlow Council's mental health champion, Ian Beckett, aims to lose three stone in six months and raise £500 for Young Concern Trust (YCT).

This will be the first of many initiatives in his role to raise awareness and engage with providers and users of mental health support services in Harlow.

YCT is a counselling and therapeutic support charity specialising in helping children and young people.

Councillor Beckett kick-started his challenge on Saturday by taking part in Harlow parkrun in the town park.

Councillor Ian Beckett said: "I visited the doctor recently and was told I need to lose three stone. Losing weight is never an easy thing to do but if I can raise money for YCT while doing it, this will make it even more worthwhile."

"YCT is a locally based charity which supports young people and children to get through very challenging times. As the council's mental health champion I want to start raising awareness of the great work and support which is available in the town.

"We are fortunate in Harlow to have such a great range of sports facilities and things to do which can keep both mind and body in good shape."

"Harlow parkrun is a fantastic initiative and as part of my challenge I am committed to joining the parkrun movement and will be running each week over the next six months, including the Christmas parkrun, all in the name of YCT."

Lindsay Fox, Director of Young Concern Trust, added: "YCT believes in good health all round, and knows the amazing benefits exercise and a healthy lifestyle can have on not just your physical but also mental and emotional health."

"We fully support what Ian is doing, as well as being incredibly appreciative that he is raising money and awareness for YCT's work."

RANGERS CLUB

The towering inferno

AS bonfires go, it was huge. So huge, in fact, that it has been described as the tallest in the world.

Measuring the same height as the Arc de Triomphe in Paris and made from wooden pallets, the bonfire was built by residents of the Norwegian sea port of Alesund to celebrate their traditional midsummer festival which was held last week.

The 155ft-high wooden tower was constructed on a small rocky platform surrounded by water. It took a team of up to 40 daredevils several days to build, stacking the pallets on top of each other.

As dusk fell, it was set alight from the top so that the flames would burn down to the ground. After some time the structure finally gave way and collapsed, causing a huge fireball.

However, there were plenty of boats nearby equipped with water jets to spray the burning wreckage if the fire got out of hand.

Nominations being sought for Heart 4 Harlow awards

NOMINATIONS are being sought for the annual Heart 4 Harlow Business and Community Awards.

The awards, which are across a number of categories – private sector business, public service, education, voluntary and charitable sectors – will be presented to the winners at a ceremony to be held at the Manor of Groves Hotel in High Wych on Thursday, October 6.

A total of 24 winners will take to the stage to collect awards.

Community

Suggested nominees can include good neighbours, successful businesses, commendable schools, worthy charities, community projects and servants of the town.

Awards organiser Rev Robert Findlay said: "Who do you suggest deserves a mention of appreciation in the Harlow Star for the contribution they have given to the town?"

"Describe what they have done in 200 words. Add your name and theirs and contact details for both of you."

Nominations, which should include contact details about the individual or group, the category and a few lines about why they deserve to win, should be emailed to admin@heart4harlow.org.uk before the closing date of August 31.

For information and how to book tickets for the event call Rev Findlay on 07784 788072.

Ceremony honours success of homeless

Praise for clients, staff and supporters of charity

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertssexnews.co.uk

A CHARITY that supports homeless people in Harlow has celebrated the achievements of the people it has helped.

Dozens of people who had completed courses in catering, health and safety and IT were recognised with certificates of achievement.

While landlords were praised for their work to help house and support the town's homeless population.

Fantastic

Street2Homes charity manager Kerrie Eastman said: "The evening was fantastic."

"It was great to have landlords, clients, trustees, volunteers and staff socialising and celebrating their achievements together."

"To see how the confidence and self-esteem of our service users has grown, some even achieving more than they ever thought possible, was a really special thing to be part of."

Street2Homes, based in Wych Elm, manage a day centre which aims to help homeless people by providing access to housing and employment advice, washing facilities and food.

In the past few months the number of homeless in the town has dramatically reduced.

The celebration evening was attended by Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who presented people with their awards.

One client said: "I was told I would never achieve anything but I have gained five qualifications. "I now feel confident to apply for jobs and believe in myself."

As well as qualifications, there were also awards to recognise client's success at paying back deposit loans, sustaining employment and maintaining tenancies. Two landlords received recognition for being responsive to the needs of their tenants, maintaining good accommodation, displaying exceptional social conscience and being understanding and excellent to work with.

The youngsters at Tany's Dell Primary, in Mowbray Road, enjoyed a day of activities including a lunch, fancy dress parade and group sing-song.

Flying squad up for obstacle course test

HIGH-FLYING students from two Harlow schools competed in the regional final of a quadcopter challenge.

Teams from Burnt Mill Academy and Stewards Academy were up against The Boswells School in Chelmsford. They were all provided with an identical kit to design and engineer parts to create a remote controlled quadcopter flying device.

During the final held at Burnt Mill Academy, one member of each team had the task of piloting the quadcopter through an obstacle course.

The competition was organised by Raytheon UK with local heats held close to the company's major sites in Harlow, Broughton, Glenrothes, Waddington and Gloucester.

Fantastic

Councillor Kevin Bentley, deputy leader of Essex County Council, said: "This competition is a fantastic way of getting young people excited about technology."

"So many talented students took part."

"This exciting challenge brings industry and education together to develop skills for the future."

The Boswells School team won the regional final and will now compete in the national final at Stow Maries Great War Aerodrome in Purleigh.

The annual competition is supported by the Essex Employment and Skills Board's Education and Industry Science, Technology, Engineering and Maths (STEM) programme.

The programme supports 30 schools.

It helps to develop a pipeline of skilled young people ready for industry in these priority skills sectors."

MP praises 'SAS of the health service'

Halfon pledges support for Essex Air Ambulance

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon met paramedics, pilots and senior staff when he visited the Essex Air Ambulance base in Colchester.

Mr Halfon described it as "the SAS of the health service" after speaking to chief executive Jane Gurney and being shown the inside of a helicopter.

The service, which has attended 69 incidents in Harlow during the past 18 months, is run by the, Herts and Essex Air Ambulance Trust, a charity which relies on fundraising for most of its work.

"They aren't just an ambulance and transportation service, they are a mobile hospital needed for the most severe and traumatic incidents," said Mr Halfon following Friday's visit.

"What is most remarkable is the skill, professionalism and level of training for all of the staff involved."

In the past Mr Halfon has called on the Government to ensure some of the fines imposed on banks caught up in the Libor scandal went to air ambulance services across the country.

"I'm really pleased that Essex Air Ambulance received two separate grants from this of £250,000 and £1.5m," he said.

"It was also incredibly helpful that the Government scrapped VAT on air ambulance and search and rescue vehicles which saves the charity £80,000 every year."

He added: "Given that the Essex and Hertfordshire Air Ambulance Trust does so much in Harlow and across our county, I will continue to do all that I can to support them."

Garden party celebrates the arts

Popular museum event brings Harlow Festival summer programme to a close

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

HARLOW'S rich creative arts scene was celebrated at the annual Art of the Garden Party.

Back for its fourth entertaining year, performers from across the town came together for an afternoon of song, music, dance and drama in the beautiful setting of Harlow Museum Walled Gardens.

The free event featured performances from Harlow Ballet, Inn Scribers, Harlow Rock School, New Edition Singers, poetry by John Steer and Jon O'Connor, U3A and Harlow Community Choir.

Culture

The event brought this year's Harlow Festival 2016, which celebrates the town's arts culture, to a close.

Organised by Harlow Arts Council, the events combine the best the town has to offer in drama, music, art and food, running from Friday, May 27 to Sunday, July 3.

"The arts play a big role in the lives of many people," said Nicky Bowland, festival co-organiser and member of Harlow Arts Council.

"The vast majority of performers at Harlow Festival are residents of the town and it is huge for both the audience and the performers.

"The experience of performing is great for them, especially the younger ones who just want to play.

"For an audience seeing something live is incomparable, there is nothing else like it."

The Effect at Moot Hall

Clinical love is in the air as Moot House Players perform a drama about a couple participating in a drug trial.

Lucy Prebble's 2012 play The Effect will be performed at Moot Hall this weekend and tells the story of Tristan and Connie.

After volunteering for a clinical drug trial the pair develop feelings for each other and cannot be sure if their attraction is love or a side effect.

"These two really question how people come to fall in love," said director Harry Tennison.

"It is a modern play. It would probably best be described as a drama, but it is quite light hearted and quite funny, although I would say it is not suitable for children. It is hard to categorise it."

A small cast of four play all the roles. Tristan is played by Tyrone Samuels, Connie is played by Abbie Middleton, Dr Lorna James is played by Sarah Randall and Dr Toby Sealey by James Miller.

Harry, who has just finished his first year at the University of Birmingham, continued: "Some of the cast are people I have seen before who I asked if they wanted to be part of it."

"For some of the roles I held auditions."

"Rehearsing has been really good. The best thing about them is that they have bought into it tremendously. It is really important that we have this play now as conversations about mental health recently have not been fantastic. It is a way of provoking that conversation."

The Effect will be performed by Moot House Players at Moot Hall in The Stow, Harlow, from Thursday, July 7 to Saturday, July 9. Tickets cost £8 for adults and £6 for concessions.

different walks of life," he said of the performers. "They will all do a stripped back and acoustic set for me."

"I chose to do it for Macmillan as friends and family have been affected by cancer. They were kind enough to enter me into the London Marathon in 2012 and I raised £5,000 that time."

Andy has set his sights on raising £1,000 this time and has currently raised more than £300 but has admitted that he has not really pushed his appeal yet.

FRONTMAN: Liam Kerrigan fronts his usual band Cyanide

As the general manager of Mark Hall Sport Centre Andy is in good general fitness but riding a bike long distances is a new venture for him.

"I am looking forward to the challenge," he added. "My training has been going great and I am riding on a regular basis now with friends."

Various artists will perform at The Square in Fourth Avenue, Harlow on Saturday, July 9 to raise money for Andy Smith who is riding the Prudential RideLondon 2016. Tickets cost £5.

Celebrating the magic of keyboard maestro Mayerl

A CELEBRATION of the music of English pianist and composer Billy Mayerl will round off the current season of lunchtime recitals at St John's ARC in Old Harlow tomorrow (Friday).

Mayerl was born in London in 1902 into a musical family, with both his father and grandfather working as theatre musicians. He quickly took to the piano and at the age of nine was awarded a scholarship to study at the Trinity College of Music.

Soon after leaving college he started work as a pianist for silent movies and later played nightly on the BBC during the 1920s.

He gained national recognition very quickly and became a seminal figure in British music, taking his influences from American ragtime and stride through English pastoral to French impressionism and appealing to people who found classical music too serious and jazz too hot.

As a composer Mayerl produced more than 300 piano pieces and 100 song arrangements.

The guest performer at tomorrow's recital will be composer and pianist Steve Law, who has a long association with the syncopated piano styles of Mayerl, Scott Joplin and George Gershwin.

Having studied music at Bristol University, he achieved a Masters for his jazz opera Heaven on Earth which has been described as "a significant contribution to the genre".

■ Music@Midday takes place at St John's ARC, in Market Street, Old Harlow. The performance starts at 1.30pm with homemade soup and artisan bread served from 12.45pm for £5. There will be a retiring collection at the end of the performance.

PIANIST: Steve Law

'There are a lot of laughs in places. We get an insight into Charlie's life'

Six years after the death of his Coronation Street character Ashley Peacock, Steven Arnold is enjoying playing more diverse roles on stage.

The 41-year-old is a star name in a cast of six in Chaplin - The Charlie Chaplin Story, a biopic to be performed at Harlow Playhouse on Saturday, July 23.

The play tells the story of silent cinema's biggest star with music, dialogue and plenty of audience interaction.

"He goes from rags to riches," said Steven, explaining the plot. "He lived in poverty in London. It shows all that part of his life and his relationship with his mother. It shows how he gets to America and up to the point of doing his first film The Kid."

The Harlow performance is near the end of a long tour which has been moving around the country since June 10 and taken in places such as Jersey, Inverness, Birmingham and Brighton.

Bryan Hodgson stars as Charlie himself with Steven playing his brother Sydney. Rachael Wood, of Emmerdale, plays his mother Hannah Chaplin. Helena Gullan plays a younger Charlie. Tristan Teller plays Marceline and Emma Whittaker takes the part of Mabel Normand, a frequent co-star of Chaplin's. All the cast take part in dialogue and the music.

Steven continued: "The script is brilliant and the songs are great. I play Sydney, the brother of Charlie and also some other cast members, including Mack Sennett from Keystone Productions.

"Bryan (as Charlie) is absolutely phenomenal, he is just taking it so well. He has really done his homework, he is fantastic.

"For two weeks we worked on the script and we started performing a couple of weeks ago. Harlow is at the end of the run. So far it has been fantastic, we have been getting great reactions. People seem to love it. They come and have a cracking night out and really enjoy themselves."

Harlow Playhouse audiences can expect a mixture of genres, according to Steven, and also plenty of chances to add your voice to the play.

"I think it has got a bit of everything," added Steven, who lives in Surrey.

"There are a lot of laughs in places. We get a lot of insight into Charlie's life. He became such an inspirational figure. There are some really poignant moments too."

After breakout hit The Kid in 1921, Chaplin went on to direct classics like The Great Dictator, Monsieur Verdoux, City Lights and Limelight. He died in 1977 and is fondly remembered as a great actor, director, producer and composer.

While Charlie is indeed an inspirational figure for many actors, Steven admitted: "I did not know too much about him. I read a lot and I started finding out more about him in preparation."

Steven was only 21 when he took on the role of Corrie wet blanket Ashley Peacock in 1995, and became one of the most loved soap stars throughout the 1990s and 2000s.

Ashley was eventually killed off in 2010 in a tram crash, but the man playing him has no regrets about moving on from Coronation Street.

"I was there for 16 years," he said, "I have got such fond memories. I just thought the time was right to move on. I have been busy since.

"I have been getting a lot of films and I have done a lot of stage work, I have been doing Shakespeare and I have been in five films this year already.

"I have got a lot of stuff coming up for the rest of this year. It has been fantastic for me."

He added: "I am looking forward to coming to Harlow. I have never been before. I never really have a favourite theatre though as every theatre has its own feel.

"Some audiences are right on top of you and in some it is quite relaxed. I enjoy all aspects of it really."

Steven said he has not got a good enough singing voice to be taking any solos but audiences are invited to participate.

"There is a lot of interaction at the start to get them involved," he said. "They really feel part of it.

"We are doing a show a night and at the moment we are in Scotland. "We just have to get plenty of rest and sleep whenever we can. There is six of us and everyone gets on fantastically."

■ Chaplin - The Charlie Chaplin Story will be performed at Harlow Playhouse on Saturday, July 23 at 7.30pm. Tickets start from £16.50 and are on sale now. For bookings and more information call (01279) 431945 or visit www.playhouseharlow.com.

Talent school to be setting for TV series

FAME Academy star and choreographer to the stars Kevin Adams will soon be back on your screens in two TV shows.

His dance and acting school The Kevin Adams Academy, based at Passmores Academy in Traces Road, Harlow, will be the setting for a television pilot for a reality series.

With a working title of The Performing Arts Academy, the BBC has all but confirmed a series to be shot in the style of Pineapple Dance Studios. A camera will follow around members of the academy.

Kevin also confirmed he will reprise his role as a tough talking fitness coach for a second series of CBBC Channel programme Got What It Takes? While youngsters were trained in the talent show Kevin put their mums through their paces.

He said: "The BBC has decided they want to do a pilot for a new series called The Performing Arts Academy. I was hoping they would call it The Kevin Adams Academy but they didn't want to as no-one knows who that is!

"It is going to concentrate on eight students from the school. It will be filmed between September and November. I am ecstatic. It is a really good time for us.

"It is such a good thing for a little town like Harlow, it makes me so happy that we give these young people this opportunity."

Got What it Takes? series two will begin filming over the summer and Kevin hinted that he may be more involved this time. However, viewers will have to wait and see what that means with the personality currently unable to share any more.

WIN A £1,500 FAMILY HOLIDAY IN AUSTRIA*

A hiking and activities holiday in Austria's stunning mountains is exactly what your family deserves this year. And you could meet an Olympian athlete!

Thousands of Brits go to the Austrian Alps in the winter to ski, but few of us realise it is a brilliant place to holiday in the summer when the temperatures can reach the 30s. It is like stepping into a scene from The Sound of Music. Underneath towering mountains, cows will be munching on fields of the greenest grass and wild flowers. There will be men in 'lederhosen' and women in the 'dirndl' costume worn by Julie Andrews.

This £1500 holiday prize is for 4-6 people to stay in a luxury Tritscher Apartment, on a hillside above the Austrian tourist town of Schladming, for one week from now until 31 October this year. The apartment has two bedrooms, 1-2 bathrooms, kitchen, lounge and balcony. There is a sofa-bed for two more people or cots can be added for small children. Each member of your party will be given for free a 'summer card', which entitles you to take part in any of 100 local activities for free and discounts on 100 more, including the longest zip wire in Europe. You can scoot down a mountain on a pedal cart. Your children can learn archery and rock climbing while the whole family can go hiking and swimming, all for free. One of the Tritscher family is an Olympic medal-winner and may take you cycling. You will ride for free on several cable cars. The brave can go on top of one cable car, up to a glacier at 3,000 metres high. The sensible will ride inside. All will get awesome views.

There are hikes amid the stunning scenery for every ability, walk up beside the highest waterfall in Austria, join guided hikes or be taught to use Nordic walking poles. Down in the valley temperatures can go over 30 degrees centigrade, although summer temperatures are normally in the mid-to-high 20s. Up in the mountains temperatures tend to be five degrees cooler so lovely to walk in. If the weather turns, you can visit castles and museums, which are free with the summer card. The Tritscher Apartments include a free sauna and a cafe, where you will be given breakfast. For lunch and dinner go to a restaurant or buy food from a local supermarket, cook in your kitchen, and eat on your own balcony, watching the sun go down on these magnificent, fun mountains.

Rumble in the jungle

It's been almost 100 years since Edgar Rice Burroughs' muscular protector of the jungle swung into action on the big screen in the swaggering form of silent movie actor Elmo Lincoln.

Olympic swimmer Johnny Weissmuller popularised the iconic role in the 1930s and 1940s before more recent incarnations including Greystoke: The Legend Of Tarzan with Christopher Lambert and Disney's animated rendering.

Written by Adam Cozad and Craig Brewer, The Legend Of Tarzan is an entertaining and rumbustious romp that focuses on the love story between the orphaned hero and his plucky sweetheart against a backdrop of late-19th century treachery.

Director David Yates, who worked his magic at the helm of the final four films in the Harry Potter saga, orchestrates vine-swinging action sequences with aplomb, festooned with a menagerie of computer-generated animals that look incredibly realistic in close-up.

Digital might beats its chest in every lush frame including a bone-crunching fight between Tarzan and one of his ape brethren and a terrifying stampede.

However, Yates is careful to stoke the smouldering on-screen

Legend Of Tarzan

ACTION/ADVENTURE: (12A)

110 minutes

Director: David Yates
Starring: Alexander Skarsgard, Margot Robbie, Christoph Waltz, Samuel L. Jackson, Djimon Hounsou, Jim Broadbent

embers between an impressively bare-chested Alexander Skarsgard and the luminous Margot Robbie so we root for the lovers when the odds are stacked heavily against them.

It has been many years since Tarzan (Skarsgard) left behind the jungles of Africa to settle into genteel life as John Clayton III, Lord Greystoke, with his beloved wife, Jane (Robbie).

The lush paradise of the Congo is a sweet, distant memory until the British Prime Minister (Jim Broadbent) passes on an invitation from King Leopold II of Belgium to visit the Congo as a trade emissary of Parliament.

John initially refuses, but gun-slinging American envoy George Washington Williams (Samuel L. Jackson) persuades the Greystoke heir to go in order to investigate rumours that Leopold has enslaved local tribes to build his railroad.

John, Jane and George depart for the Congo, unaware that they are pawns in a deadly game masterminded by Machiavellian Belgian envoy, Captain Leon Rom (Christoph Waltz), who has agreed to deliver Tarzan to Chief Mbonga (Djimon Hounsou) in exchange for the legendary diamonds of Opar.

A stand-off ensues and Jane is captured as tantalising bait.

"He's Tarzan, you're Jane. He'll come for you," smirks Rom.

Faced with the prospect of losing his soulmate, John gathers together his animal friends and unleashes the primal warrior of the past.

Shot at Warner Bros. Studios near Watford and on location around the UK, The Legend Of Tarzan captures the bare necessities of Burroughs' source text with gusto.

Skarsgard and Robbie are an attractive pairing, the latter imbuing her heroine with steeliness and resolve.

Two-time Oscar winner Waltz has portrayed too many sadistic schemers in recent years for his turn as the pantomime villain here to send shivers down the spine.

Denizens of the jungle snarl with more ferocity.

PROPERTY TALK

&gt;with NIGEL LEWIS

Blackadder to the rescue?

There is an episode of TV comedy Blackadder starring Rowan Atkinson in which he sells his house by using some very creative but risky sales patter.

This includes, after being challenged by a buyer that he'd really 'worked out his banter', Blackadder replying that "No, not really. This is a different thing. It's spontaneous and it's called wit".

It may be time for Rowan Atkinson to reprise his role in the TV comedy series, which at its peak during the 1990s pulled in 11 million viewers on average for each episode.

His five-bedroom, Georgian pile in Oxfordshire, which has been on the market since last year, has yet to sell. The Old Rectory includes a swimming pool and a contemporary extension at the back added during the early noughties.

It's a gem for anyone who wants privacy and is approached via electronic gates and a gravel driveway. For the green fingered there's an original Victorian greenhouse, a formal garden to the front and landscaped gardens to the rear, which run down to the River Thames.

The property was first on the market for £2.9 million but the asking price has slipped a little to £2.65m and Atkinson has also engaged the services of a new agent, the Oxford branch of Cater Jonas (01865 511444).

The property is in the idyllic village of Waterperry, eight miles outside Oxford and was bought by Atkinson in 1982.

"Rowan has spent a great deal of time sympathetically restoring and enhancing the house," says Mark Charter of Carter Jonas.

"All the original rooms to the front of the property retain plenty of character with high ceilings, sash windows and original fireplaces, and the indoor swimming pool complex is incredibly desirable."

HOT GOSSIP

Familiar as a television location

IF YOU live in an eye-catching property, then there can be small fortunes to be made from renting it out to TV and film companies. Rates start at a few hundred pounds a day to tens of thousands, depending on the size and unique nature of your home.

According to Daniel Garry of location search firm ShootFactory.co.uk, there's no ideal property but "a good amount of space is vital," he says. "A property needs to be accessible for large items of equipment and offer good parking facilities".

"The money you'll get will depend on the size of the production, number of days required, the filming times and how big your property is.

"Some film shoots are over in a day, others can go on for weeks and run all day and night, so some owners prefer to stay off-site, which the production will usually pay for," he says.

One person who knows all about this is the owner of a three-bedroom fishing lodge in Hertfordshire, which will be familiar to many crime series fans.

Appearances include half a dozen well-known BBC and ITV murder mysteries including an episode of BBC1's Waking The Dead and an episode of Midsomer Murders.

It is not hard to see why. It's in an idyllic position overlooking the River Chess and is accessed via a pretty wooden bridge. It's part of the Chorleywood Estate created by stockbroker John Barnes during the 1820s to a design by John Papworth, the founder of the Royal Institute of British Architects.

The property is for sale with Savills (01923 725500) at £1 million.

Home to a former film star

THE UK is said to be enjoying a golden age of cinema at the moment as more and more Hollywood films are made here including, most recently, My Cousin Rachel. It's currently shooting in Buckinghamshire and is to star Rachel Weisz.

But it's not the first golden age. The 1940s witnessed a significant flowering of British movie talent including a large cast of famous actors such as Cecil Parker.

He played and often starred in nearly 90 films during a career which spanned half a century and worked under famous directors such as Alfred Hitchcock and alongside stars including Sir Alec Guinness and Peter Sellers to name just two.

His most famous films included The Man In The White Suit and The Ladykillers and he was famed for his gravelly voice and cut-glass accent.

He was born in 1897 in Hastings, East Sussex to middle-class parent and, after service in the First World War, joined the theatre. By the 1930s he was in films, a medium he inhabited until his retirement in 1969. His output was prolific, including latterly as a comic actor in both The Pure Hell Of St Trinians and Carry On Jack.

He ended his career on a crescendo in Oh! What A Lovely War, a film musical directed by Richard Attenborough starring several names that endure today including Maggie Smith, Nanette Newman, Edward Fox and Vanessa Redgrave.

After Oh What a Lovely War, Parker retired and bought a detached house in Brighton, which is now for sale with local estate agent Mishon Welton (01273 778877).

Parker would probably raise a sceptical eyebrow at the price – £1.35 million – but otherwise it's pretty much unchanged since he died in 1971.

It has three reception rooms, five bedrooms and a stunning south-facing garden.

TESTED Audi A4 Avant

Patrick James

The continuing success of Audi should really come as no surprise. The philosophy of evolution married to top quality, innovation and performance, whether in petrolhead stakes of brutal RS power, or the hugely economical and low emissions power units, make it one of the most desired brands around.

In the shape of the latest A4 it is a model much favoured by business and fleet users, which should also come as no surprise such is the range of engines and styles.

Now the Avant, or estate, has been added to the latest range, bigger than its predecessor and priced from £27,300.

Not cheap, but this is a real executive motor and the estate simply oozes quality and offers a range of engines to suit every pocket and CO2 emissions to suit every wallet.

Like many estates these days it is stylish. The days of the big barge are over, with estate or tourer drivers demanding a touch of elegance.

The A4 Avant provides that with 505 litres of seats-up luggage capacity, with a power operated tailgate and electrically retracting luggage cover as standard on all models.

Interior space is decent too, with good leg and headroom to the front, although the coupe style makes a little more cramped to the rear.

Also fitted as standard are the three 'core' specification levels of SE, Sport and S line tested here, are 17-inch alloy wheels, xenon or LED headlights with LED daytime running lights, Audi drive select, three-zone climate control, cruise control, rear parking sensors and the Audi smartphone interface, which supports Apple CarPlay and Android Auto platforms and displays smartphone information such as navigation mapping on the seven-inch colour screen.

Major functions are controlled from Audi's MultiMedia Interface, or MMI, which are displayed on the screen.

A real highlight is the optional space age 'cockpit' digital display. This displays speedo and rev counter dials with the sat nav screen in the background. It looks great and further adds to the executive feel of the car.

The interior itself is the usual high quality affair, with top notch materials, soft touch finish to dash, doors and roofline, plus controls and switchgear which are logically placed and easy to use.

The 187bhp two-litre diesel is a pretty impressive power unit. Potent and flexible it has rapid acceleration and plenty of torque or pulling power.

Mated to a slick seven-speed automatic gearbox, it can hit 60mph from a standing start in just under eight seconds. Just as impressive is the fuel economy, a claimed 65-odd mpg and low emissions of 113g/km.

This is aided by a drag coefficient of 0.26 making it slippery through the air and a weight advantage of as much as 120kg compared with its predecessor, this says Audi makes up to 21 per cent more fuel efficient than its predecessor.

It is also a refined unit with engine noise just a thrum in the background, particularly on the motorway. The extra torque is a real bonus for overtaking.

Handling has always been decent and the Avant is just as good as its predecessors, while the steering is on the light side but direct.

Evolution works, just ask Audi owners.

Gates of Harlow - Open for business as usual.

Building work has commenced on our brand new FordStore in Edinburgh Way, Harlow. FordStore will provide a brand new environment for customers to discover more about the Ford range of products and services. Whilst this work is taking place, Gates of Harlow will be open for business as usual offering the same products and services you would expect from your local Ford Dealer.

The full Ford New Car and Commercial Vehicle product line-up are currently available to view and test drive including the Mustang, Vignale, Focus RS (all exclusive to FordStores) and the brand new Edge SUV range. There is also a wide choice of used vehicles available within group stock - all vehicles are prepared to Ford Approved standards and come with a minimum 12 months' warranty and a 14-day exchange policy. Furthermore, the Aftersales Department at Gates of Harlow remains fully-equipped to cater for your ownership requirements with the usual Servicing, Repairs & MOT and Parts & Accessories facilities available.

New FordStore coming soon

Once building work is complete, the brand new Gates of Harlow FordStore will deliver an interactive customer experience using intelligent digital solutions to showcase technologies and product attributes in an interacting, engaging way. It will be divided into a series of easy-to-navigate zones beginning in the "hello" zone, where you'll be guaranteed a warm welcome. The "relax" zone will offer a friendly, relaxing environment with comfortable seating, free Wi-Fi and refreshments. So during your visit, you can choose to relax, work or simply enjoy the digital displays as you wait.

In the showroom, the "discover" zone is the place for visitors to get to know Ford's remarkable technologies and explore the vehicle range, grouped within relevant "family" displays to make it easier to oversee and compare models. This zone will include the impressive "power wall" - consisting of nine 55" screens, the HD quality power wall will provide a high immersive experience, allowing customers to configure and explore their chosen vehicle. New product areas will be introduced as part of the FordStore experience with headline vehicle displays designed to showcase particular vehicles within the FordStore line-up including ST models and exclusive to FordStores, the Mustang and forthcoming Focus RS and Ford Edge SUV ranges. There will also be a brand new Vignale lounge - a premium area that embodies exclusivity where customers can experience the new Vignale brand and personalised service at their leisure.

Gates of Harlow Transit Centre will continue to provide a one-stop-shop for all commercial vehicle customers needs. The brand new FordStore facilities and high-tech showroom will feature the full, award-winning, commercial vehicle line-up plus six demonstrators.

The "care" zone will provide a welcoming and friendly environment for Aftersales customers, with fully-equipped workshops offering routine servicing, repair and Class 4 & 7 MOT testing. The Retail/Trade Parts & Accessories department will also be located within this zone, which compliments those within the showroom area. Transit Service customers benefit from the Transit 24 Customer Service Promise which includes enhanced aftersales standards and extended opening hours.

Harlow chop down Oakfield

HARLOW Town welcomed recently promoted Oakfield Parkonians to Phoenix Park on Saturday.

Neil Gladwin won the toss and had no hesitation in batting first on a good looking wicket.

Harlow couldn't have got off to a worse start however as Ashley Alderson nicked his first delivery behind with the score on 4.

The next partnership was crucial as both Daniel Baldwin and Joe Holland pierced the infield with regularity. Holland was the next to go, trapped lbw, one run short of a half century with the score on 121.

Gladwin batted positively as he and Baldwin put on 45 before clipping the ball to mid wicket for 24.

Yates fell soon after, trapped lbw for one.

A downpour meant the players scurried to the changing room, leaving Baldwin on 85.

On the resumption, a flick to the leg side, was met by the umpire's finger and Baldwin walked back, three short of his century.

Dan Farmer struggled to get going, but Matt Hurley maintained the momentum.

A flurry of wickets towards the end, including Hurley for 37, left Harlow on a very competitive 256-8 after their 50 overs.

In reply, Paul Morrell took three wickets, leaving the visitors on 85-3.

Harlow Town old boy Ramya Upadhyay was caught by Shaun Alderson and Town took the game forward at a rapid pace.

Among the wickets that fell as the match swung in Harlow's favour, Morrell took two more to claim a magnificent maiden five-wicket first team haul.

SOARING: The Flight Trampoline Club girls show off their medals

Talented Flight trio hit heights

FLIGHT Trampoline Club continued its competition success at the weekend with three of its members, Olivia Collier, Caitlin Ayres and Shannon Waterman helping the Eastern Region win the National Regional Championships.

With 22 medals and 40 trampolinists qualified for the National NDP Finals, the East Region's Trampoline Team won the trophy as the best of the 13 UK regions at last weekend's Regional Team Finals in Birmingham.

Trampoline silvers went to Shannon Waterman and Olivia Collier and Caitlin Ayres achieved 11th place with her highest scores yet to add even more points for the Eastern Region.

Olivia and Shannon have now qualified for July's National NDP Finals in Telford in a few weeks with their coaches, Garry Leach and Kirsti Reeder wishing them every success.

Wheelchair basketball player's a Brit special

Junior World Championships the aim for teen Travers

by Oliver Harbord

sportsdesk@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

AFTER only 18 months in the sport, Harlow's Matthew Travers has featured for the Great Britain Junior Men's Wheelchair Basketball team.

The 18-year-old former St Mark's School student began playing wheelchair basketball when a joint condition called Ehlers-Danlos syndrome began to affect him and made sport and walking difficult.

It has been an incredible rise for the youngster, who made his international debut at the Fazza Tournament in Dubai in April.

And Travers (pictured right), who has just returned from Ireland playing in the 2016 Invacare Challenge Cup, is excited about where his sporting career may go.

He said: "I was delighted to be selected, it definitely was not something I was expecting."

"I hadn't had any previous international experience so Dubai was a really exciting place to be."

Speed

"I really love the speed and tactical aspects of the game, with the positioning of wheelchairs it can be more tactical than the able-bodied game as times."

"I have just had a friendly tournament in Dublin this weekend against Ireland with the GB junior men's team. Now that the season is over I have a lot of training for the summer."

Travers, of Westfield, has a pretty intensive training schedule as he trains twice a week at his local sports hall and trains on Monday evenings with his team the Essex Outlaws in Maldon.

This also includes doing performance training at Stoke

Mandeville every other week, and on the alternative weekend travels to Worcester to train with the national team.

He trains with the Great Britain team, while trying to cram in his A-level studies in maths, biology and chemistry at Bishop's Stortford High School.

But all the hard work is for a very focussed goal – the 2017 Junior World Championships in Canada.

And with the 2020 Paralympics in Tokyo not far away, Travers is hoping to be selected.

"I am currently doing five, two-hour training sessions a week so it is definitely hard balancing this with my studies, but my school have been very supportive," Travers added.

"I am currently attending men's GB training session in Worcester once a week also.

"I am going to have to push very hard to be selected for the U23 World Championships, as Great Britain currently have a very promising group of players, but I will be delighted if I am selected again."

"I think I will have to work very hard to be up for selection for the 2020 Paralympics but I am definitely willing and determined to put in the effort."

Mark Brunner, head of sixth form and PE teacher, said: "This is a fantastic achievement by Matt. To be selected for a national team in any sport is an achievement, but after only taking up the sport 18 months ago Matt has made a brilliant start to his wheelchair basketball career."

Goodey's in his wife's bad books

BEN GOODEY will miss his wife's birthday after qualifying for the final of the Lombard Trophy with a stunning 59 at Ashridge, Berkhamsted.

The Manor of Groves, High Wych, PGA professional, who lives in Old Harlow, flourished alongside club member Rob Jones as they secured a place in the £41,500 grand final at Vila Sol in Portugal on September 22-23.

The duo dovetailed perfectly as they secured a four-shot win over their nearest challengers, Simon Harrison and Fraser Allen of Gog Magog Golf Club.

A birdie, eagle start set them on their way and by the seventh hole the deadly duo were already seven-under-par.

A solitary blip at the eighth, where they dropped a shot, briefly halted their momentum, but eagles at ten and 15 plus three other birdies saw them clinch victory in style.

"I don't think the wife is too happy," Goodey confessed. "But hopefully she might let me off if I come home with a nice cheque!"

"I felt me and Rob dovetailed really nicely out there, if one of us was struggling on a hole the other one always came in."

"It was part of the game plan to try to take the pressure off each other and, credit to Rob, I had a few birdie putts where I had nothing to lose."

"That makes life a lot easier and we'll be looking to carry that on in the final."

The duo played together in this event last year at the regional final at Old Fold Manor, on that occasion missing out on a place in the final on count back.

"I'm really glad I made it and now I'm really looking forward to the final in Portugal," Goodey added.

"I go out there with friends every year and we go out again this year just a couple of weeks after the final."

"I get the feeling that trip will be a little bit more relaxed though!"

ON TARGET FOR GOALS

Striker lifted by owner's pep talk

by Alan Scott

sportsdesk@hertsexnews.co.uk

DON'T be surprised if striker Alex Read gets a goals target from Harlow Town chief executive Tom Cunningham this summer – it certainly worked at the tail end of last season.

Read, 27, was having a pretty uninspiring season in Ryman North before a pep talk from Cunningham in mid-March motivated him to lead the Hawks' promotion charge.

He was set a target of 14 goals in the Hawks' remaining games to hit the 40-goal milestone.

The former Tilbury and Brentwood forward – who has signed a two-year contract with the Hawks – was on 26 goals at that time.

Although he ended on 38 goals, he was content with this tally and has told fans he will be in tip-top condition to lead another promotion charge in the Ryman Premier next season.

Read, who has netted 132 goals for Harlow, is now just 68 behind the all-time Hawks record held by Marc Salmon.

He said: "At the start of last season I found it hard to get going, it was two years of disappointment."

"The last three months I knuckled down, I had been going to the gym constantly to make sure I was ready for whatever happened, whether we won it [promotion] automatically or through the play-offs."

"The big thing for me in the last few weeks, I was on 26 goals and Tom [Cunningham] sat me down and gave me a target and over the last two years he has given me a target, but I didn't really have one for this season."

"It's just a natural thing for me to score goals but I am happy when I have targets because I have something to aim for."

"The target he gave me was 40 and I have missed it by two."

"It's a big leap to get 12 goals in a month and a half so I just wish I could have got another two. I have to keep setting myself targets and building on what I am doing."

"This has got to be onwards and upwards for this club. This club has been too big for Ryman North since I have been here, especially the last two years."

"We have got to build on this and try to go up again. We have got a good enough side to do it."

"We played some good teams in the division, and beat some decent teams in the division as well."

"We only lost to Grays [from the Ryman Premier] last year. We are good enough to play in that division."

New deal

"Chappo [Danny Chapman] knows what he is doing."

"I have signed a new deal and I'm staying. If I was to leave I think Chappo would chase me down. He would find me at work and make sure I sign forms."

"I can score goals at any level. It's just how much I want it."

"I have always been a late developer. When I was 18 I was 5ft 3in. You look at me now I'm 5ft 10in."

"The way I have grown up mentally, I feel right now I'm coming into my prime."

"I think the team are more together. I'm not saying it wasn't happening the previous few seasons."

"But we work hard all over the pitch, everyone is looking to help each other out."

Harlow need Loughton win to ease fears

HARLOW Cricket Club need to win this Saturday at Loughton, currently bottom of the Shepherd Neame Essex League Division One table, to ease relegation fears of their own after slumping to seventh spot.

Harlow welcomed back Hafiz Yawar Afzal, out injured for six weeks with a broken wrist, and Ubaid Ur Rehman Kiani hit 88, but neither could stop them losing to leaders Upminster.

Skipper Rehman Ahmed said: "The pitch was difficult to bat on in early doors and their bowlers bowled the right lengths on it."

"It was really an amazing innings by Ubaid, he got us back into the game and was superbly supported by Ahmed Khawaja who helped see off the early conditions and guide the innings through."

"Losing out to the weather is a hard pill to take, as we were on the winning side of the rules when we came off for rain."

"If it hadn't rained, we had plenty of runs on the board with that wicket in front of us. We can only play with same determination at Loughton."

Promising

It was a promising start for Hafiz who reached double figures without being troubled.

Harlow struggled, however, to come to terms with a slow, low pitch and soon lost wickets. Alan Jones (3) was caught at extra-cover, Hafiz (17) caught behind and Rehman Ahmed (15) caught at mid-off.

After drinks the slow innings gradually gained traction through the partnership of Ahmed Khawaja and Ubaid.

Khawaja (78) was eventually caught at deep mid-wicket before Ubaid (88) was stumped. Some frantic running from Nicky Baxter (22no) and Jon Perry (5no) saw Harlow reach 254-5 off their 50 overs.

Upminster got their run chase off to a good start through Shafiq Rahman and Shahbaz Butt.

Butt (50) was caught at mid-wicket by Mustanser off the bowling of Jake Messenger, a first XI debutant. Messenger also had Rehman (46) caught at mid-wicket, this time by Khawaja.

When the rain intervened, Upminster were 120-2 off 25.5 overs and when play resumed they needed 194 from 38 overs and their captain Alan Ison smashed 64 to help get them to it.
